Dan DeLouise began his career as an artist in NYC and earned a BFA degree from Syracuse University. Dan established himself as an illustrator, painting professionally for more than 25 years. "After a long stint in the commercial/digital art world I realized I was missing the tactile part of painting, the one on one experience between the artist and the canvas." Dan opened his first gallery in November of 2013 at 53 Main St. Rockport MA. The gallery represents six different artists as well as his own works. Currently Dan is an active member of the North Shore Art Association, Rockport Art Colony and strong advocate for the arts on Cape Ann and instrumental in encouraging the long tradition of Plein Air Painting here on this beautiful coastline.
